DO YOUR RECORD COLLECTION JUSTICE SOUND ENVIRONMENT RECORD PLAYER | ONLY $749

There are many all-in-one record players on the market. Most of these can play your records, but they generally sound terrible and can even damage the record collection in which you have carefully invested time and money. We have assembled a Sound Environment Record Player that adheres to our standards; keeping audio fidelity, build quality, value, and ease of use in mind.

The Sound Environment Record Player is a two-piece system, not a single box. This approach offers better performance and allows you to easily upgrade either the turntable or the amplified speaker using our guaranteed trade up plan.

The Bluesound PULSE MINI and Music Hall USB-1 turntable are a powerful pairing. The PULSE MINI is an all-in-one powered speaker built by a company that puts an emphasis on sound quality. Combined with the USB-1 turntable from Music Hall this system allows you to play your carefully curated record collection with superior fidelity while also offering the ability to play music from a variety of other sources.

Since you probably don't have every record you'd like to have or perhaps you want to listen to albums before you purchase them on vinyl, the PULSE MINI has built in streaming from major cloud services such as Spotify and Tidal and includes internet radio. Virtually all the world's music is at your fingertips. The PULSE MINI will also access any music you have stored locally on your computer, NAS, or other hard drives, or you can play music directly from any mobile device via Bluetooth. All of this is easily controlled using Bluesound's easy to use app, available for any mobile device.

This two-piece combination of products is sonically and functionally superior alternative to all-in-one record player options. Do your record collection justice without breaking the bank with this great system. Everything you need for just $749!
